Announcing our New Interim Executive Director, Nancy Taylor Ross.

Hartford, CT – February 11, 2019 – KNOX is pleased to announce that the Board of Directors has named Nancy Taylor Ross, current Chief Operating Officer, as its Interim Executive Director, effective February 1, 2019.

Nancy has been with KNOX since October 2018. She has a strong background in innovative, customer-focused experience in the design and implementation of business strategy, operational leadership, and financial accountability. Most recently, she was Vice President at Aetna.

Nancy is looking forward to serving in this critical role, and offers her thoughts: “I appreciate this opportunity to support KNOX through this time of transition, and to continue working with the Board, staff, and the Hartford community to welcome new leadership and KNOX’s next phase of growth.”

We are grateful to have Nancy leading KNOX as we continue our search for a new Executive Director. The search committee established by the Board of Directors has made significant progress in its search for KNOX’s new leader in a process that has included input from staff, gardeners, farmers, corporate partners, and other community stakeholders.

Thank you for your continued support as we move on to a great new chapter for KNOX.
